Local youth Anthony Williams finds internship at East Coast Kids

Port St. Lucie – Devereux CBC is proud to announce the latest in a long line of youth success stories:

Anthony Williams, a student in Devereux CBC's Road to Success program, which prepares teens and young adults for life outside of foster care, recently was awarded an internship with East Coast Kids.

He began the internship this summer as an editor for ECK, a youth-driven, online publication showcasing stories and culture from along the nation's East Coast.

Topics covered by the publication include style and fashion, travel, beauty, lifestyle and entertainment, college and career, sports, health and fitness and sex and dating.

Williams, who will attend the University of Florida this December as a journalism student, edits the publication's sex and dating section.

When asked how long he will continue in his internship, Williams said:

"It ends when they terminate me or promote me."
