Good for You Anthony Williams – local youth heads to Fox News

Fort Pierce - Anthony Williams is making his hometown proud again.

The former student of the Devereux CBC Road to Success program - which prepares teens and young adults for life outside foster care - recently began anchoring a Gainesville news channel as part of his education at the University of Florida.

Williams, who will graduate in the spring, anchors every Friday for WUFT Channel 5 in preparation for a career in journalism. And during the winter break, the college senior will head to New York to intern at Fox News.

It's the latest in a long string of opportunities he has seized for himself.

Williams began his adventure in journalism in 2015 when he was awarded an internship editing for East Coast Kids, a youth-driven, online publication showcasing stories and culture from along the nation's East Coast.
