Devereux CBC welcomes new members to board

Port St. Lucie – Devereux Community Based Care of Okeechobee and the Treasure Coast proudly welcomes its two newest board members, Donna Follmer and Pat McCoy.

Follmer, an attorney for the Stuart-based law firm of Cray Buchanan, is a long-time advocate of children's issues. As the president of the Junior League of Martin County, she has been instrumental in coordinating and organizing local projects that benefit children in foster care.

One of those projects is a community breakfast hosted by the Junior League highlighting the work of the local child-welfare system and raising awareness for the need for more foster homes in Martin County.

Pat McCoy is the assistant superintendent for instructional services for the Okeechobee County School Board

McCoy is the assistant superintendent for instructional services for the Okeechobee County Schools and a former board member for United for Families, the Lead Agency that preceded Devereux Community Based Care.

She and her husband, Doug, adopted their four children from the local foster-care system and is very interested in helping to recruit new foster homes in Okeechobee County.

"We are so fortunate to have these two dynamic woman serve on our board and be in a position to advocate for our children and families," Devereux Community Based Care CEO Carol Deloach said. "Outreach is an essential part of our system of care, and they have strong connections to the Martin and Okeechobee communities."
